

Applying the Allied Health: Credentialling, Competency and Capability (CCC) Framework

This interactive workshop will explore the three sections of the Victorian Department of Health and Human Services, Allied Health CCC framework, providing an opportunity for participants to apply the framework and resources to an identified need in each of the areas of credentialling and defining scope of practice, competency and capability. Participants can prepare for this session by completing the three self-assessment tools located on the Victorian Department of Health and Human Services, Allied Health CCC framework webpage. Prior knowledge of the framework or attendance at the morning session is not required; however familiarisation with the framework would be advantageous.

Background:

Allied health practitioners, deliver services across a diverse range of sectors, contexts and settings with considerable variation in the approach and scale of the governance processes underpinning them. By developing and implementing a consistent approach to allied health credentialling, competency and capability, the workforce and health service management, will be better equipped to respond dynamically to the changing and increasing healthcare demands, challenges and opportunities in the future.

This workshop will be presented by the development and implementation leads from each of the three framework sections: Jill Walsh, Annie Pearce and Sam Sevenhuysen.
